Dear CiCe colleagues,

Just coming back from a splendid 11th conference in Malmö, I would like to take the opportunity of this Newsletter to thank you all for your active participation, with special gratitude to Nanny Hartsmar and her team for such professionalism in a wonderful location! Everything, according to my knowledge, was perfect in terms of organisation and facilities, without forgetting kindness...

Also, this conference was a success also thanks to Lindsay Melling and Teresa Carbajo Garcia, as well as Zuleika Candan back in the office in London; without their hard work, nothing would have been possible... Both Lindsay and Teresa were, as usual, so efficient, smiling all the time, warm and so well organised!

I am grateful for all the work done by the members of the EC; they have done so much in preparing this conference during the past year.

The working groups have once again proved how efficient they are in working together and making CiCe a reality! Particular thanks to each one of you...

I wish, in our name, to provide special congratulations and thanks to Marta Fülöp and her team, Penelope, Luigi and Roger, for making such a success of the student conference! This was a great experience for all the students and good for the new generation of young people interested in citizenship & identity. Without the students active networking this would not have worked. Congratulations to all the 14 PhD students and in particular to our three winners Miriam Sang-Ah Park, Brunel University, UK, investigating Culture and family; Beata Szabo, Eötvös Loránd University, Hungary, investigating The Representations of Social Differences in Function of Family Socialization; and, Vanja Lozic, Malmö University, Sweden, What about history-teaching in hybrid societies? The profile, structure and context of history in multicultural schools.

I would also like to express my appreciation to our four key note speakers: Sven-Eric Liedman for his interesting introduction of the conference, Mary Ratcliffe, about how to connect science and citizenship education, Luigi Cajani who introduced us to the difficult evolution of the notion of citizenship in connection to different phases of history and various political goals, and, last but not least, Alistair Ross with his very refreshing presentation on such an important idea: teachers as political actors, and I sure agree with this!

Now, we are already looking towards the future with our next conference which will be in the beautiful city of Barcelona, and I am sure that this will also be a great success!

Long life to CiCe!

(and by the way, if you are not yet a member of CiCea, do not hesitate to go to CiCea website for all the details: <http://www.cicea.eu/>)
